A BRIEF HISTORICAL SKETCH

One hundred and twenty-five years have come and gone since the North Congregational Church had its beginning in the council assembled in the precinct meeting house October 15, 1807. Almost one hundred years have passed over the roof of the present building. The leadership of nine beloved spiritual leaders has already passed into its history. With an earnest, serious, truth-seeking people it has maintained its life throughout these years close to the heart of a growing city.

The Church was the outgrowth of a demand for a place of worship in this then growing section of the town. It was formed from members of the First Church and by those who had no Church, forty in all. The Second Church had already been organized in Fairhaven.

Soon after the organization of the Third Church, disturbances crept in over the theological controversy waged so strongly at the beginning of the 19th century. This resulted in the majority of the members of the Church withdrawing to another place of worship and eventually becoming an independent group. This group held the records and became known soon after as the North Congregational Church. The property, by legal right, was held by the society. The minority group of the Church and the society is perpetuated by the First Congregational Society (Unitarian).

In spite of the discouraging experiences of early years, the Church has moved steadily forward. Its first meeting place was the North Purchase Street School House, a school house on Third and Walnut, and a hall at Second and Mill Streets. The first building was erected at Second and Elm Streets. About 1816 another building was erected on a site which has proved to be permanent, Purchase and Elm Streets. Because of the growth of the Church and the constant need for enlargement, this building was moved back and the present stone structure erected in 1836.

The spiritual zeal of each generation has left its trace on the place of worship. In 1857 the chapel was erected. Improvements were made in the auditorium in 1881 and again in 1888. By the generous gift of one of the members in 1905 the Church was refitted and new pews were installed. With the growth of the city and the widening of Purchase Street the tower was removed, the chapel and vestry floors leveled and other alterations made in 1916.

Three missions grew out from the leadership of this Church which have since become strong; The City Mission, the Immanuel Baptist Church, and the present St. Paul's Methodist. From time to time trust funds have been left to the Church by those who have had faith in its future.

The magnitude of the labors of this Church cannot be measured by the material resources, great as they are. The real worth is to be found in the spiritual foundations laid in the homes, the schools and the community life.

It is a notable fact that in the 125 years' existence of this church that there have been but ten regular pastors, the Rev. Sylvester Holmes, active pastor for 28 years; the Rev. Thomas Smith; the Rev. Robert H. Hitchcock; the Rev. Azariah Elbridge; the Rev. Henry W. Parker, the Rev. Alonzo H. Quint, D. D.; the Rev. Albert H. Heath; the Rev. John A. MacColl, the only living ex-pastor; the Rev. Frank E. Ramsdell, who preached and ministered here for nearly 20 years; and the present minister, the Rev. William B. Mathews.

A LOOK INTO THE FUTURE

A worthy past is a challenge to the present for the increasing worth in the future.

A great Church in the heart of a growing city meeting the needs of hundreds in and out of its parish. Reaching out into the avenues of our community life with a program of activities interesting and appealing to both young and old. The North Congregational Church, with leaders of vision, zealous workers and a consecrated membership, has already and will continue to write its name in the history of accomplishments.

OUR AIMS

Spiritual and Evangelistic—Above all, upon these depends our success. Our Church known increasingly as a spiritual and a progressive Church. A Church setting forth the principles and spirit of Jesus as the way out of the perplexities of personal problems and the problems of lawlessness, war, industrial strife and morality.

Educational—A Church School second to none, consecrated in the task of leading young people into the richest meaning of life. A well-defined program of religious education earnestly applying the wisest methods of psychology and pedagogy to the task of leading youth into Jesus' way of life.

Church Membership—A serious and concerted effort through personal evangelism to gain at least an increase of ten per cent yearly.

Organization—A Church teaming with worthy, vital and wide-awake activities. Every woman of the Church a member of the Woman's Guild. Every man of the Church a member of the Brotherhood. Every young person active in the department for youth.

Church Coöperation—A Church coöperating with and touching every worthy and forward-looking community enterprise.

Welfare—A welfare department adequate to aid the needy of the parish in time of economic stress.

World Service and Benevolences—An awareness of an interdependent world and our responsibility in the spread of the gospel of Jesus. A time when we shall give more to others than for ourselves.

Building and Equipment—A beautiful annex over a part or all of the present building fitted to serve and fill a great need in the heart of the city, giving facilities for a Church School with up-to-date equipment for the proper housing and directing of a worthy school and program appealing to youth.

Finance—The Current expenses paid in full each year. A Church free from debt by 1936.

Endowment—Our present endowment substantially increased to provide for increased world service, welfare and adequate program of activities of youth.
